HADLEY OF YALE

On Government By Public Sentiment

HE DEFINES A GENTLEMAN

As One Who Subordinates His Convenience to the Good Of Others

BREKLEY, Cal., March 23.—"Charter Day" was celebrated, the thirty-third anniversary of the founding of the University of California. The oration was delivered by President Hadley of Yale, whose subject was "Government by Public Opinion."

President Hadley said in part: "There are two theories of democratic government: the individualistic, which relies on the self interest of the various citizens acting independently, and the socialistic, which relies mainly on the votes of those citizens acting as a body. Neither has proved wholly satisfactory."

Self interest being inadequate support for political and moral order, and over legislation an evil worse than that which it undertakes to cure, we must go back to the true principle of self government—GOVERNMENT BASED ON PUBLIC SENTIMENT. This is a phrase which is often used but generally misunderstood. Whenever a large number of people want a thing, we hear it said that there is a public sentiment in its favor. This is not necessarily true. Even the fact that a majority may be willing to vote for a measure does not prove that it has this basis. The desire may be the outcome of a widespread personal interest.

Much, through not all, of the objection to trust is based on the fact that the critics do not own themselves at the wrong end of certain transactions instead of at the right end. If a man really believes that a trust is a bad thing and would refuse to countenance its parents, if he were their beneficiary, he can call his opposition to them by the honorable title of public spirit. And it may be added that most of the actual reform in trust abuses has been thus far from outside by the self-respect of their owners.

The social and political instinct of mankind is so strong that people are led under its instruction to do things which are against their own personal convenience and even against their own interest, in order to subserve the needs of the community. Public sentiment is the name given to the feeling which gives effect to these virtues of patriotism. "The question is often asked, what constitutes the essential mark of a gentleman, as distinct from the accidents of birth and clothing and of speech. I believe it is to be found in the readiness to accept trusts, even when they are personally disadvantageous, the readiness to subordinate a man's own convenience and desires to a social code. The code may be a good one or bad one; but it is an authority which the gentleman accepts of his own free will without waiting for any one to compel him to accept it.

To the extent that he does this, he not only proves himself a gentleman but proves himself capable of self government. In this sense I believe that the great body of the American people are gentlemen and are therefore capable of self government. The possibility of maintaining democracy is due to the fact that increased readiness to accept self imposed burdens has gone hand-in-hand with increase of commercial and political power.

It is for the young men who are just growing up to carry into the larger world of business and legislation THE SPIRIT WHICH WILL SUBORDINATE PERSONAL CONVENIENCE TO COLLECTIVE HONORS. In this development of the principle of political trusteeship lies the hope of the republic for its future.

Sol Abraham Dies at Portland. Word was received at Salem today by Gen. W. H. Byars that Sol Abraham, the well known Roseburg capitalist, had died at a hospital. Some days since, he had his foot amputated to prevent blood poisoning and his death was not unexpected.

Mr. Abraham was 78 years old and a resident of Roseburg for over 45 years. About ten years ago he retired from the lumber business in Douglas county. A few weeks ago he went to Portland to visit his daughter, Mrs. Mack, and while there he was removed to the hospital to have his foot amputated, which which had been crushed. Blood poison set in and he never recovered from the effects. Mr. Abraham is survived by one daughter and two sons, Mrs. Mack, of Portland, and Albert and Maurice Abraham, of Roseburg. The funeral services will be held at Roseburg.

IS THE CITY PLAYING DOUBLE

Can It Abrogate the Anson Franchise and Enforce It?

Mr. Anson Proposes to Fully Comply With the Terms of the Contract.

F. R. Anson, of the Salem Heat, Light & Power Company, went to Portland Friday morning on business connected with plans he proposes to establish in this city, under the terms of a franchise granted him by the Salem City Council last May. By the conditions therein expressed that plant must be installed and in operation by April 1st. The council on Tuesday night having denied Mr. Anson's application for an extension in time until August 1st, in which to comply with the terms of the franchise, it is now up to him to install his plant in a period of ten days, or forfeit a bond of $5000 deposited as an evidence of good faith on his part that the privileges conferred by the franchise would be exercised.

When seen by a reporter this morning and questioned regarding his plans, Mr. Anson stated positively that he would comply with the terms of the franchise and by April 1st would have installed and in operation an electric lighting plant that would meet all requirements. Thenceforth Mr. Anson has done nothing towards installing the plant other than to erect seventeen poles for wiring purposes. He has until October 1st, next, to establish his steam heating plant.

The present status of the City of Salem—Anson franchise is more interesting and of greater significance than it appears on the surface. At the meeting of the council on Tuesday night, City Recorder N. J. Judah was directed to notify Mr. Anson, that an extension of time having been denied him, the electric light plant had to be established and in operation by the required date or the franchise would be vitiated and the bond of $5000 forfeited. Mr. Anson's friends contend that the city cannot act doubly in the matter, that the franchise cannot be abrogated and the bond collected, at the same time. This makes the case interesting. It further contended that, assuming the plant is not installed and furnishing a lighting service by April 1st, that the city has no recourse other than an action for damages against Mr. Anson for its per centage of the tax that would accrue to the municipality as revenue from the 2 per cent tax of the gross earnings proposed in the franchise.

The ordinance, under which the franchise was granted, was drafted by Mr. Anson and this fact strengthens the opinion that the grantor is familiar with the provisions of the measure and its legal construction. The true nature of the franchise and the capacity of the city to act in the premises will be determined in the case.

Mr. Anson insists that he is acting in good faith, and his assurance that he will install the plant in due season may solve the situation and not make it necessary for him to invoke technical legal objections in his own behalf.

Emerson's Last Lecture. In his "Eccentricities of Genius" Major Pond tells the pathetic story of Ralph Waldo Emerson's last lecture delivered in the Old South church in Boston for the fund to save that building from demolition.

"As he began reading his lecture the audience was very attentive. After a few moments he lost his place, and his granddaughter, sitting in the front row of seats, gently stepped toward him and reminded him that he was lecturing. He saw at once that he was wandering, and with the most charming, characteristic, apologetic bow, he resumed his place, an incident that seemed to affect the audience more than anything else that could possibly have occurred. A few moments later he took a piece of manuscript in his hand and, turning around with it, laid it on a side table. Just then one of the audience said to me (I think it was Mrs. Livermore or Mr. Howe), 'Please have the audience pass right out' and, rushing up to Mr. Emerson, said, 'Thank you so much for that delightful lecture' then, turning around, waved the audience to go out."

BALDY SMITH

Who Tried to Steal Rosecran's Thunder

TAKES A FALL BY HIMSELF

Military Board Unanimously Decides the Case Against Him

WASHINGTON, March 23.—A controversy which has been pending in the War Department since 1891, in which the veterans of the eastern and the western armies who fought at Chattanooga have been interested, has just been settled by a board of officers appointed in August last by Secretary Root, of which Major General John R. Brooke was president.

General John A. Smith, known to the Army as "Baldy" Smith, for ten years has persistently claimed that he and Colonel Rosecrans originated the plan by which the army of the Cumberland was relieved in October, 1863, by opening the river line of supplies from Chattanooga to Bridgeport by way of Brown's Ferry.

The Chickamauga Park Commission in the legends accompanying its atlas of the battles about Chattanooga, set forth that this plan was devised by General Rosecrans, General Smith took issue with the Commission, and finally asked Secretary Root to refer the whole subject to a board of army officers.

In response to this request, Secretary Root appointed as members of the board Major General Brooke, Colonel Gillespie of the Corps of Engineers, and Colonel Sheridan, assistant Adjutant General. After a visit to the theatre of operations, involving an exhaustive study of the voluminous records in the case, and a hearing of General Smith's case presented by himself and a distinguished attorney, the board unanimously decided that the plan was devised by General Rosecrans and not by General Smith.

This conclusion is approved by the Secretary of War. The board states that the legend complained of does no injustice to the military record of General W. F. Smith.

The Eagle and the Turkey. The turkey is our great national bird instead of the eagle, which I don't take much stock in. Turkeys are good to eat. Eagles are only fit to put as stamps on coin. The eagle is a ravenous, vicious thief. There is nothing brave or good about the eagle. The eagle cannot be tamed and is of no earthly use to any one anywhere at any time or place. A hawk is braver than the eagle. If the eagle had the courage in proportion to his size of the sparrow, he would be a wonder.

It was a mistake—a sad, pitiful blunder—to make the eagle our national bird. And a movement should be on foot now to place the turkey on our coins and remove the eagle from where he has no business to be. A bird so useless should not be worshipped as the eagle is. The turkey is a handsomer and in every way a better bird. On holidays occasions the turkey is our foremost fowl and furnishes the most amount of delicious food. Thanksgiving and the Christmas holidays would be long gone without the turkey.—Practical Poultryman.

Called His Papa Down. Little Willy is a bright boy and a sunny boy. His apt answers have often turned away wrath and often turned it upon him strongly. The other day his father was reprimanding him for some misdeed, and Willy was answering very nicely.

The father became very angry and, seizing the youngster by the collar, said: "See here, young man, you must not talk like that to me. I never gave my father impudence when I was a boy."

Willy was not fazed at all. With a cherubic smile he looked into papa's eyes and said, "But, papa, maybe your father didn't need it." "Was all off. Willy escaped punishment, while papa retired to another room.—Albany Journal.

EX-PRIME MINISTER OF HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Commends Peruna to His Friends as a Positive Catarrh Remedy.

Hon. Celso Cesar Moreno, Ex-Prime Minister of Hawaii.

The Hon. Celso Cesar Moreno, ex-Prime Minister of Hawaii, and projector of the Trans-Pacific cable, 1876, is a distinguished statesman, and the best known Italian in the country. In a letter from Washington, D. C., to the Peruna Medicine Co., he says:

"I can commend your great national catarrh cure, Peruna, to my friends throughout the country as a safe, reliable medicine. I know of no other tonic that will build a person up as well as Peruna. It is a positive cure for the universal disease, catarrh, and those who will try this remarkable medicine will find a sure cure."

Very respectfully, Celso Cesar Moreno.

Charles B. Royer, 609 W. Washington street, Morristown, Pa., writes: "My oldest daughter Malinda Royer, secured of deafness by Peruna. When she began to take Peruna we had to go up close to her and talk very loud to make her hear. "After taking one-half dozen bottles of Peruna she can hear you in any part of the room. She can hear an ordinary conversation."

Thousands of people have catarrh who would be surprised to know it, because it has been called some other name than catarrh. The fact is, catarrh is catarrh wherever located; and another fact which is of equally great importance, that Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.

Catarrh is an American disease. Fully one-half of the people are afflicted more or less with it in some form. Previous to the discovery of Peruna, catarrh was considered well nigh incurable. Since the introduction of Peruna to the medical profession thousands of cases are cured annually.

Mr. W. M. Holland, of Hartwell, Ga., proprietor of the Hartwell Tin Works, writes of Peruna as follows:

"I am more than pleased with the benefits derived from Peruna. The winter of 1899 my weight was 150 pounds. I used several bottles during the winter and now weigh 211. "I have recommended it to all my friends both as a tonic and catarrh cure. If I had been lucky enough to have seen it several years ago Peruna would have saved me much inconvenience. I can never be too thankful to you for the benefits received from your valuable remedy. My mother has also been wonderfully benefited by your valuable remedy."

Address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O., for free catarrh book.
